The Location

Ocean Walk is a short level stroll into the centre of the coastal village of Perranporth. The village is well known for its expansive surfing beach, links golf course, coastal walks, and the annual Tunes in the Dunes festival. With acres of beach for dog walking at low tide, while the Surf Life Saving Club is one of the most active in the country. The Watering Hole, a year-round bar, live music venue and restaurant, is located right on the beach.

The village centre also offers a range of day-to-day amenities, including surgery, a butcher, a baker, restaurants, bars, and retail outlets. Within a short distance is Cornwall Airport near Newquay (with four flights a day to Heathrow along with regular flights to Spain and Portugal), the coastal destinations of St Agnes and Porthtowan, and the capital of Cornwall, Truro with its mainline link to London Paddington.

Shore recommendations

- Surf some of the best breaks the rugged north coast beaches have to offer.
- Watch the sunset and catch a brilliant live band from the beachside Watering Hole
- Dine out in Perranporth's latest seaside restaurant, Summerhouse, or head to nearby Mithian for a cozy village pub experience.
- Take a coastal stomp from Perranporth to St Agnes, finishing at the Driftwood Spars with an onsite brewed ale.
- Enjoy walking your dog on Perranporth's three miles of sandy dog-friendly beach.
- Visit Nancarow Farm for one of their feast nights and experience the hospitality of a working organic farm.
- Jump in the tidal pool at Porthtowan, a well-kept secret. It's private, secluded and the perfect spot to take a dip in clear waters when the beach is busy.
- Take your time to look around Truro with its cathedral, fine array of shops and quality restaurants.
